

CHRISTMAS EVENT 2009

CHRISTMAS AT THE OLD POLICE STATION

Tuesday 22nd December 2009

Join in the festivities at Newton Street and step back in time to discover what Christmas was like in this busy station in the heart of the city. Listen to some storytelling and get creative by making your very own seasonal stained glass window, to match the ones in our Magistrates Courtroom!

This event is aimed at young visitors aged 3-10 years old. For visitors over 10 years old there's still lots to see at the museum, including our brand new uniform corner, transport gallery and glazed atrium!

The museum will be open from 10.30am - 3.30pm (last admission at 3pm). Admission is free, (£3.00 per person for the festive storytelling and activity workshop). Advance booking is not necessary, tickets will be available in the shop on the day.
